Meta Ads Creative Deck

Ad copy for review — draft, nothing live yet

This deck contains two sets of draft ad copy: (1) the “First Love” bridal collection launch campaign, and (2) a creative refresh for the fatigued Insta Engaged & Followers Remarketing campaign. All copy is written for lead-gen (DM / WhatsApp enquiry) objectives, consistent with the brand's no-discount, no-urgency, editorial tone. Visual creative (photos/video) is a separate workstream — this deck covers copy only.

Section 1 — “First Love” Launch Campaign

Lead-gen only (Click-to-WhatsApp / Instagram DM). Products are still DRAFT / unpublished on Shopify, so no ad in this set links to the website.

VARIANT A — General Launch

First Love — Now at K&A;

First Love has arrived — a collection built around the magic of beginnings. Seven silhouettes, each hand-embroidered in zardozi, French knots, and dabka, built on our signature sculpted corset structure and finished with raw silk lehengas and dupattas that are easy to move. This is bridal dressing for the woman who carries her heritage forward on her own terms.

DM us or WhatsApp to enquire about the First Love collection — pricing, fittings, and customization.

VARIANT B — Craftsmanship-led

Every Stitch, Hand-Told

In First Love, nothing is machine-made. Zardozi. French knots. Ari threadwork layered in shades for depth. Dabka detailing worked into borders by hand, tier upon tier. This is the considered bridal craftsmanship looks like — structured corsets and raw silk lehengas, built one embellishment at a time, for the bride who notices the difference.

Enquire to see the collection up close and discuss pricing and customization.

VARIANT C — Identity angle

Heritage, Worn Your Way

First Love isn't one idea of a bride — it's seven. A sculpted ivory corset in muted zardosi fan motifs. A peplum silhouette in sage green. Maroon raw silk finished in antique gold French knots. Each piece blends traditional Indian craftsmanship with a structured silhouette — for the bride who wants her wedding look to hold her family's traditions and her own point of view, in equal measure.

DM us to explore the First Love collection and start a fitting conversation.

VARIANT D — Hero-piece spotlight · Maroon Peplum Sculpt Corset

The Maroon That Started It

Rich maroon raw silk, layered in fine sequin embroidery. A border of antique gold French knots, dense zardozi, and dabka work, finished entirely by hand. Our signature sculpted corset — sculpted, regal, unmistakably modern — sits beneath a hand-embroidered dupatta, for the bride who wants tradition with structure.

Part of the First Love collection. DM us for details, fabric, and fitting availability.

Same template reusable for the Gold or Red pieces — swap in their craft details.

VARIANT E — Silhouette/structure angle

Structure Meets Softness

The sculpted corset is our signature — and in First Love, it takes new shape. A nonlum silhouette in sage green. A structured ivory bodice in arched fan embroidery, built to hold its own shape, then finished by hand in zardozi, French knots, or dabka, so the tailoring does as much talking as the embellishment.
